

Intern Spotlight

Meet Kailey White (Fall 2016)

College: James Madison University, Class of 2017

Major: Public Policy & Administration (Minor: Political Science)

Hometown: Massapequa Park, New York

Post-grad Plans: Pursue a career in the government or nonprofit sector

Fun Fact: "The Best day of my life was when I met Taylor Swift."

"I've learned a lot about the advocacy process when working with the federal government during my time at The AIDS Institute. I've gained valuable experience writing advocacy letters, drafting press releases, and attending various meetings and briefings. Additionally, I've learned that the professionals who work in the advocacy space are persistent, compassionate, and hardworking. It is encouraging to see that they are constantly striving to improve the lives of those around them."

-Kailey White

